

CRISIS AND CHANGE IN TRANSPORT

Romeo DANIELIS

Università degli Studi di Trieste, DEAMS

Monday, 4th March 2024

Sala Conferenze ex Ospedale Militare

6:30 PM

Transport contributes to the climate and environmental crisis, continuing to be among the main sources of greenhouse gas emissions, air pollution and noise. Combining mobility and development needs with the limitation of the environmental impacts is problematic. What can be done? What solutions are available from a technological, political, economic and cultural point of view? The seminar will try to give answers to these questions starting from the transformations taking place in the world of transport of people and goods.
